

← course home \(/table-of-contents\)

Write a function that takes a list of characters and reverses the letters in place.↴

Why a list of characters instead of a string?

The goal of this question is to practice manipulating strings in place. Since we're modifying the input, we need a mutable type like a list, instead of Python 3.6's immutable strings.

---

Want more coding interview help?

Check out interviewcake.com for more advice, guides, and practice questions.